MIAMI

South Beach has been called the American Riviera and an Art Deco Playground. Yet there's more than fine white sand and colorful buildings to South Beach's fantasyland of exuberant Deco architecture. South Beach offers an eclectic mix of world-class boutiques, galleries and stores. It's also a culinary hot spot for everything from gourmet to casual beachside cuisine. At night, South Beach comes alive with crowds ready to go out and have a world-class evening out.

Weather:

The best time to visit Miami is between March and May or October and November. During these months, you'll be able to enjoy daily temperatures in the 70s for non-peak rates (avoid festivals and city wide conventions), while the rest of the country is still/already defrosting.

Annual precipitation:	61.9 inches	Average high temperature:	76.4° F
Avg. sunny/partly sunny days:	175 days	Average low temperature:	59.9° F

Fun Facts:

There are more than 800 buildings that feature Art Deco Architecture in Miami Beach. This makes it the largest collection of this type of architecture in the entire world.

Miami Beach is surrounded by both the Biscayne National Park and the Everglades National Park. It's the only city in the United States that has two different national parks as part of its borders.

Miami contains the largest cruise ship port in the entire world.

Miami Beach is one of the few man-made islands in the United States. It was once a desolate coconut grove plantation. Years back, most people would have never guessed that it would now be the popular tourist destination that it is today.

The inventor of suntan lotion was from Miami Beach. He was a pharmacist named Benjamin Green and came up with the useful concoction in 1944. Now visitors of Miami Beach can safely protect themselves from the sun thanks to Benjamin Green's invention.
